

Re. Anson Norfolk Island coffee.

rich flavour
"floral" intensity
gentle on the palate
with a pleasant-caffeine zing!

I think it is very apt that Gateway, the travel agent that specializes in Norfolk Island Travel – should introduce clients and the public to the coffee that is produced on Norfolk Island. I for one am keen to taste it and also keen to see the Norfolk islanders do well with this enterprising initiative.

Recently I discovered Arabica Blend Coffee from Norfolk Island. Norfolk Island? Yes that once infamous colony now produces coffee in its own plantation. My friends at Gateway Travel act as agents so I ordered some. It is so easy. The beans (or the espresso) can be mailed, fresh and ready for the coffee pot for a mere $27.00 for 450 grams! I like to offer this to guests, asking "Now where do you think this came from?" After much guessing and after tasting I then ask? "Do you think it tastes of the history of that island?" What ensues is much excited chatter about coffee, and also about history.
